

77TH COMMENCEMENT ENDS

BUSY SESSION OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF COLLEGE.

Alumni Quickly Raise the Money for Permanent Coach and Engage Vail.

The 77th commencement exercises of Gettysburg College has come and gone. The event was remarked by a number as somewhat flat, but this was largely due because caught in the recoil of the biggest crowd ever in Gettysburg, on Monday at the dedication of the U. S. monument. Following days to any such day would look flat and short in Gettysburg. The crowd at the alumni collation on Wednesday, where there was no empty seats is proof that the usual number of alumni were present.

There is, however, a very prevalent feeling among the alumni to see commencement made an occasion of larger proportions and more attractive. To the lately graduated the occasion can never seem in retrospective quite what it was in prospective, yet there seems a prevalent idea that the week could be made larger. One of the classes in reunion recommended that the old plan of holding College and Seminary commencement during the same week be followed so that the alumni of both institutions can take it both and not make choice. This commencement was without the usual concert of musical clubs and any athletic exhibition, and it ought to be possible to have both and an occasion might be inaugurated to have addresses made by those specially honored with degrees.

The meeting of the Board of Trustees attracted much attention, being longer than usual, consuming the whole of Tuesday, with conferences on Monday night and a short session on Wednesday morning. The sessions were very busy ones, calm and with little if any excitement and the gift of Col. Fitch, announced last year was not mentioned or referred to in remotest way, so what the status of the same does not officially appear in any way whatever.

The President's report showed during the past year the largest attendance at college, 4 post-graduates, 32 from Gettysburg, 211 non-locals, 243 in college and 66 in Prep., a total of 313 students, exceeding the number of last year by one. The improvements of the year were noted, the larger item being the running track on Nixon Field, presented by Burton F. Blough of Harrisburg, and other improvements on field amounting to a total of about $2000, all of which was met by John F. Dapp, member of Board of Trustees, and friends of his of Harrisburg. The needs of the college library were pointed out according to the recommendations of J. C. Hanson, chief of the Catalogue Division of the Library of Congress and the Board authorized the work to begin on the library.

The report of H. C. Picking, treasurer of the college, showed receipts of $36,232.33 and expenditures of alike amount, the most of which was ultimately distributed in Gettysburg.

The following are the minutes of the Board of Trustees given out for publication:

The meeting of the Board was not largely attended, but much of importance to the progress of the college was transacted. The President, the Hon. Edmund D. Graff, was detained at home by illness, and so the Vice President, Judge Swope, presided.

The following members were present: Rynael, McKnight, Swope, Billheimer, Wagner (John), Borer, Shipman, Picking, Stifel, Valentine, Hefelbower, Bream, Bloomhardt, Gies, Glatfelter, Colvin, Dapp, Kunkle, Clutz and Stock.

The first matter presented after the meeting had opened was a demand on the part of the President of the institution for a committee of investigation. The following action was taken:

Resolved, That in compliance with the request of the President of the College, a committee of five (5) be appointed by the Chair to consider the situation growing out of the alleged widespread dissatisfaction with the present administration of the college, and other conditions connected with the college, and report at an adjourned meeting of the Board, to be called by the officers of the Board of Trustees, at as early a date as can well be arranged for. As this committee the following were appointed: William M. Dunbar, D.D., Henry H. Weber, D.D., Charles F. Stifel, William L. Glatfelter and Frank E. Colvin, Esq.

By will of the late Mrs. Jane Reamer, deceased, the college received certain monies for the use of young men studying for the ministry.

The Board created three scholarships, to be known as the "Mrs. Jane Reamer Scholarships," the use of which shall be according to the wishes of the testatrix.

Hereafter every student shall pay a fee of fifty cents per term towards the maintenance of the reading room. Under certain conditions $3000 is appropriated for the use of the library. One year's post-graduate work, or three years devoted to educational pursuits, shall be necessary to the securing of the A.M. or M.S. degree.

The Board declined to reverse its action relative to the Faculty control of reading room.

After receiving a lengthy and most satisfactory report from the Faculty Committee on Supervision of College Publications, a copy of which will be furnished the Secretary of the Faculty to be read to the whole body, it was

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Board that its Secretary be directed to respectfully inform the Faculty that the Board modifies the action of last year only in so far as is expressed by the report of the Committee on Supervision of College Publications, which report made the committee an advisory one to be consulted by the student body whenever desirable but with no compulsory feature.

The Druid Fraternity is granted permission to erect a chapter house on the campus, under the rules and regulations of the institution.

A committee was appointed to consider amendment to the College Charter looking to the receiving of our professors on the Carnegie foundation. This committee is Drs. John Wagner, Milton H. Valentine, and William L. Glatfelter.

The following was adopted: Resolved, That instead of a graduation fee of $5, there be charged a registration fee of $5 to each student entering this institution—this to go into effect in Sept. 1910, the students of the classes of 1911, 1912, and 1913, paying the graduation fee as at present.

Frank Moser, '07, was appointed instructor in Prep. Department.

Samuel E. Bower and John Jenkins were appointed proctors.

It was ordered that the office of Y. M. C. A. Secretary and Canvasser for Students, be continued, under certain conditions.

The petition from alumni of the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity that a number of undergraduates be permitted to room in the chapter house, was denied, as were a number of like petitions preceding.

Dr. Himes having declined to serve on Library Committee, Dr. Carl J. Grimm was appointed in his stead.

The report of the Committee on Curriculum, which met in Philadelphia on July 1st, 1907, composed of Messrs. Baum, Breidenbaugh, Hefelbower, Himes, Marshall (John), Smith (Edgar Fabs), and Eisenhart, was adopted after prolonged consideration. This will raise the standard of the college very much, and is to go into effect in 1911.

The communication placed into the hands of the Secretary of the Board by the Secretary of the Pen and Sword was referred to the Committee of Investigation.

Concerning the requests made by the Alumni Association the first, referring to publicity of the Board's meetings, through the "Gettysburgian" was granted.

Second, concerning the Board member's tenure of office, consideration was deferred one year.

It was moved that the officers of the Board be directed to arrange for a regular mid-winter meeting of the Board in the city of Harrisburg.

The prize was awarded by the judges to R. E. Rudisill with honorable mention of E. C. Herman. After the decision of the judges the benediction was pronounced.

Graduating Exercises.

Tuesday afternoon the Class Day exercises began on the campus but before they had progressed far a slight shower chased the large crowd into Brua Chapel where the program was concluded. N. G. Phillips was Master of Ceremonies and started the exercises. Maurice B. Bender, Karl F. Irvin and Leslie M. Taylor called the roll and brought out many incidents in the four years' course of the different members of the class. George R. Haaf and Charles F. V. Hesse read the class prophecy which proved to be very amusing. Miss Helen H. Brenneman read the class poem. George N. Acker delivered the mantle oration and L. K. Young, President of the Junior class, responded. Victor Hausknecht, Geo. E. Wolfe and Oliver D. Mosser presented the gifts to their classmates, making a number of capital hits which brought out roars of laughter. Master of Ceremonies Phillips closed the exercises.

On Wednesday morning in Brua Chapel, the class of 1909 was graduated. The program was as follows:

Music, Overture, "Light Cavalry," Suppe.

Prayer, D. P. Drawbach, Altoona.

Music, Hungarian Dance No. 5, Brahms.

Salutatory, Chief Lessons of Our Course, Edgar E. Snyder, Bedford.

Theodore Roosevelt, Clark B. Kistler, Marietta.

Music, Violin Solo, "Nightingale Song," Zeller, Geo. W. Updergrove.

Strikes in the Coal Regions, Felton S. Dengler, Steelton.

Robbing Posterity, Lloyd Van Doren, New Germantown, N. J.

Music, Intermezzo, Russe, Franke.

The Etiquette of Courts, Virginia M. Beard, Gettysburg.

Personalities—With Valedictory, Paul F. Bloomhardt, Altoona.

Music, Descriptive Piece.

The graduating class numbered 49 and the following received the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

Elizabeth Jeannette Bayly, Gettysburg

Virginia Marion Beard, Gettysburg

Paul Fred. Bloomhardt, Altoona

Hellen H. Brenneman, Harrisburg

James H. Buck, Hughesville

Milo R. Clare, Abbottstown

Helen Culp, Gettysburg

Earle V. Ehrhart, Glenville

George R. Haat, Elmer, N. J.

Edward R. Hamme, Brodbeck

George T. Heintz, Buffalo, N. Y.

Charles F. V. Hesse, Leeburg

George L. Kieffer, Millersburg

Clark B. Kistler, Marietta

Charles L. Kopp, Lineboro, Md.

Elias T. Lau, East Berlin

John C. McCarrell, Shippensburg

Robert E. Peterman, Hanover

Norman G. Phillips, Greencastle

Mervin E. Smith, Biglerville

Edgar E. Snyder, Bedford

Samuel F. Snyder, Indiana

Simon Snyder, Clearspring, Md.

Harry B. Strock, Harrisburg

Alfred L. Taxis, Wilkensburg

Grover Tracy, Lineboro, Md.

Harry R. Wolf, Harrisburg

George E. Wolfe, Anville

The degree of Bachelor of Science was given to the following graduates:

George N. Acker, Washington, D. C.

Joseph Arnold, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Maurice B. Bender, Gettysburg

Arthur A. Bright, Harrisburg

Felton S. Dengler, Steelton

Victor B. Hausknecht, Hazleton

Karl F. Irvin, Altoona

John R. McMillan, Gettysburg

Oliver D. Mosser, Ashland, Ky.

Benjamin Philson, Berlin

Samuel Philson, Berlin

Clarence L. S. Raby, Phoenixville

Charles G. Remsburg, Petersburg, Pa.

Clarence E. Reyer, Knox, Pa.

Keller E. Rockey, Waynesboro

Harry Clayton Sieber, Mifflintown

Leslie W. Taylor, Norwood

Lloyd Van Doren, New Germantown, N. J.

Alfred K. S. Waltz, Chewsville, Md.

Maurice S. Weaver, Gettysburg

John B. Zinn, Gettysburg

Honors and Prizes.

The following honors and prizes were announced by President Hefelbower:

Second Honor—Paul Frederick Bloomhardt, George Theobald Heintz, Edgar Ernest Snyder, Virginia Marion Beard, Lloyd Van Doren, Felton Samuel Dengler, Arthur Keller S. Waltz, (3 years), Clarence Lantz S. Raby, Charles Leonard Kopp, Oliver Daniel Mosser, George Edgar Wolfe, Clark Benjamin Kistler.

Graeff Prize—For best essay on Milton's "Samson Agonistes," George Edgar Wolfe, with honorable mention of Paul Frederick Bloomhardt.

Hassler Gold Medal—Junior Latin Prize, Harry Davis Lighty, with honorable mention of Harry Sheely Hoshour, John Rogers Musselman, Julius Grover Cleveland Knippel, Roy Victor Derr, Levering Tyson.

Pittsburg Club Prize in Chemistry—Harvey Nicholas Gilbert, with honorable mention of John Harrison Sachs, Ernest Henry Yohn.

Gies Prize in Debate—First, second and third prizes, Charles Millard Alabach, Earl Jerome Bowman, Oliver Cleveland Rothmiller.

Baum Sophomore Mathematical Prize—George Granville Hatter, Roy Randolph Allen, Clarence Paul Brown, with honorable mention of Stanley Thomas, Rufus Nathaniel Wenrich, Clay Edward Rice, Miles Henry Krumbine.

Muhlenberg Freshman Prize—General Scholarship, Frank Joseph Peck, with honorable mention of Norman Jay Gould Vickrey, Raymond Musser Rudy, Carl Cheston Dreibeis, Luther Melancthon Frisich.

Reddig Prize in Oratory—Ralph Edward Rudisill, with honorable mention of Earl Cameron Herman.

Honorary Degrees.

The following degrees were announced by the President: Master of Arts (in course): Rev. Reuben S. Stare, '87, Mary C. Siebling, '03, Norman A. Yeahey, '03, Rev. Jonas S. Blank, '06, Rev. H. Clyde Brillhart, '06, George W. Gulden, '06, John S. Gilbert, '05, Elmer Hess, '06, Bertram A. Strohmeier, '06, J. Harold Wolff, '06, Master of Science (in course): D. Leslie Diehl, '06, Doctor of Divinity: Rev. M. P. Hocker, '80, Rev. John P. Heintz, '67, Rev. Horace L. Jacobs, '82, Rev. Upton A. Hanke, '79.

Doctor of Literature: Huber Gray Buehler, Doctor of Science: I. Newton Snively, M.D., '87.

The commencement exercises closed with music, String Quartet, "Folded Wings," Jacoby, and benediction by the President. It was announced that college would open on Thursday, Sept. 16, 1909.

Alumni Collation.

The ladies of Gettysburg gave a delightful collation to the alumni in Examination Hall at noon on Wednesday. The hall was tastefully decorated with banners and pennants, and at the conclusion of the feasting a rising vote of thank was given the ladies for the pleasure of the occasion.

A number of toasts were replied to by members of classes holding reunions, by Rev. Samuel J. McDowell of Springfield, O., of class of 1889; by Hon. J. Frank Graff of Worthington, Pa., of class of 1879; by Dr. Lewis S. Weaver of York, of class of 1899; by Rev. Norman S. Wolf of Shrewsbury, of class of 1904; by Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs of Altoona, of class of '82, upon whom had been conferred the degree of D.D.; by Rev. Thomas R. Paeber, D.D., of Norristown, of the class of 1869; and H. B. Strock, vice president of the graduating class responded for 1909.

Alumni Association.

After the toasting the Alumni Association met and minutes of last meeting were read by the secretary, Prof. C. B. Stover. By unanimous vote the secretary was instructed to cast a ballot for the re-election of all the old officers: President, C. S. Duncan, '82; First Vice President, C. J. Fite, '82; Second Vice President, C. H. Huber, '92; Third Vice President, H. H. Keller, '01; Secretary, C. B. Stover, '94; Treasurer, H. C. Picking, '79. Dr. Fred G. Bloomhardt of Altoona, as chairman of the committee on the Alumni Professorship of History, reported that the plan was not feasible under the present conditions and recommended that it be dropped. The report of the committee was adopted. Dr. Wm. J. Gies, '93, laid before the association the Pen and Sword plan of the General Alumni Fund, reporting over $1400 collected from alumni to which was added over $150 by alumni present, bringing the total to over $1600. It was recommended that the subscriptions already made of $3000 for the Alumni Professorship of History be transferred to the General Alumni Fund with the consent of the subscribers.

The event of the afternoon was the appeal of R. Edward Brumbaugh, first describing the condition of athletics at Gettysburg and that the imperative need was for a year round coach, and that as the Board of Trustees had been unable to provide for such a coach, as well as the Athletic Council, he proposed that the Alumni Association authorize it, pledging that the money would be raised. When the matter was hanging in the balance because of some indefiniteness as to how the money would be raised, President Hefelbower started the ball rolling with a $25 subscription and Gettysburg College spirit was running high and $650 was quickly raised, to which the Athletic Council added $300, making a total of $950. A committee composed of E. E. Snyder, '09, J. K. Robb, '08, and George Karmany, '07, were appointed to communicate with Fred C. Vail, former football coach and secure him as a permanent coach for year at a salary of $1300. There seems to be no doubt that he will accept as the offer is exactly what he asked, and the committee has been adding subscriptions until the total is now over $1000 and the balance it is believed will be an easy matter to raise. The Alumni Association recommended before adjourning that Coach Vail be made a member of the Athletic Council.

Odd Eclipse of Sun Next Week.

Prof. John A. Brashear of Allegheny Pa., in a signed statement, gives notice to the public that on June 17 next, there will be an eclipse of the sun unlike any other eclipse within the knowledge of man.

Prof. Brashear says: "The eclipse will be of a very interesting character from the fact that for a few seconds it will be an annular eclipse, then change to a total eclipse, then back to an annular eclipse for the second time. The writer cannot find record of such an occurrence in any history of astronomy although we have records of annular eclipses for 400 years and of total eclipses for thousands of years. The eclipse as a partial phase of greater or lesser magnitude will sweep over the North American continent from the north, decreasing in size as it passes down through Canada and the States.

"The central line of totality commences southeast of Tomsk, in Siberian Russia, courses only a few miles south of the north pole of the earth, and skirts the east coast of Greenland, where totality ends near sunset."

New Train Schedule.

A new train schedule went into effect on the W. M. R. R. on Sunday the first train to Baltimore leaving Gettysburg at 8:10 a. m. and the afternoon train at 3:02 p. m. and there will be an evening train to Baltimore coming from Pen-Mar leaving at 6:15 p. m. daily, Sundays included.

The morning train from Baltimore will arrive at 10:02 a. m. and the evening train at 6:45 p. m. The Sunday train arrives at 10:02 a. m. and leaves at 7:36 p. m.

The new schedule went into effect on the Reading R. R. last week, the only change of importance being the morning train, which leaves now at 6 a. m. instead of 7, and carries a buffet car to Philadelphia and return on the 9:05 train in the evening.

BOROUGH EXTENSION NORTH

COUNCIL VOTES FOR WINTER EXTENSION ON BROADWAY.

Question of Increase of Borough Indebted Under Consideration for Sewer Extension

The Town Council held the regular June meeting on Tuesday evening of last week. Councilman Trostle drew attention to the fact that a public watering trough for farmers was needed in this place. That there was no place where a farmer could water his horse and that this condition resulted in much suffering to animals. The matter was discussed by other Councilmen and it seemed to be the general opinion that the most convenient corner for a fountain would be on the Court House corner, Baltimore and Middle Streets and that the watering trough should be constructed of concrete. Upon motion of Councilman Butt, the Highway Committee was directed to erect a fountain.

Councilman Trostle next called attention to a number of changes needed at the Engine House. That the lock-up was in a bad condition. That there was no cellar under the Engine House and that it had been suggested if the building was heated from a cellar with a small hot water plant, a connection could be made with the fire engine so that there would be hot water for it all the time and that such an arrangement would make unnecessary the gas heating apparatus. He further called attention to the fact that with a cellar for heating plant, a portion could be fitted up for a lock up and that there would be storage room for tools and supplies of the borough, which are now located in a rented building. The suggestion after being discussed was referred to the Property Committee for consideration and report at next meeting of cost of such repairs.

The grade markers that have been placed in the town were next discussed. Street Commissioner Warner told of complaints frequently made to him, that the markers at a number of places were so far above the pavement line that they made dangerous stumbling blocks and a menace to pedestrians. An ordinance was ordered to be drawn up covering the matter of grades, but no action was taken as to what to do to protect the public from the protruding markers, except that they be erected only where absolutely necessary.

The extension of the borough on the north side of the borough as proposed by Martin Winter was discussed and the Council being in favor of the project a motion prevailed that the ordinance committee be instructed to present an ordinance covering the matter at the next meeting.

Councilman Kitzmiller presented an ordinance from the Ordinance Committee ordaining West Middle street from West street to the borough limits. This street is opened and in constant use but no ordinance can be discovered among the records of the town ordaining the same, hence the ordinance presented which was adopted and ordered advertised.

The report of the light committee on the subject of lights in the town was heard, discussed and adopted. The Committee recommended 38 arc lights and 38 tungsten lamps, and so located that it is believed the town will be better and more effectively lighted. The arc lights are reduced about seven or eight and at points where less light is needed and the tungsten lamps will enable many parts of the town to have light at present without any increase of the monthly light bill, resulting from the modified price for electric light under the new contract.

Ordinance Committee was directed to present an ordinance repealing the ordinance ordaining Buford street to width of 66 feet and a new ordinance opening it to width of 60 feet.

The borough auditors' report was referred back to have attached a full statement of borough indebtedness.

The Sewer Committee was authorized to secure the services of Engineer Pratt for a sewer extension on East Middle street.

The Board of Health sent a communication calling attention to the disposal of chicken damage on the extension of East Middle and the trouble caused by reason of the lack of sewer facilities and inviting consideration to the matter.

THE JUNE MAGAZINES

STORY OF WRIGHT BROTHERS SOLVERS OF FLYING.

Interesting Account of Their Boyhood and the Things Leading up to Their Flying Machine.

The Boyhood of the Wright Bros.

"The Interpreter's House" in the June "American Magazine" contains an interesting account of the boyhood of the Wright Bros. Following is an extract:

"Take the Wright Brothers. I doubt if they would ever have made a flying machine if it had not been for the sympathy and good sense of both their father and mother. Mrs. Wright was one of those rare women who can do things with her hands. She used to make both sleds and playthings for the boys, and of course assisted them with what they were trying to make. Every sign of mechanical talent which they showed pleased her. Orville Wright as a little boy was always trying to work out some kind of a contrivance and his mother encouraged him.

"It seems to me it was the most natural thing in the world that they should become interested in flying. It happened in this way: Wilbur, always a great reader, and Orville, always an enthusiast, got interested, in the summer of 1896, in the experiments of Lilienthal, a German forerunner of successful aviation who died that year. They read everything they could lay their hands on.

"They took hold of the thing together. They had done everything together—from the days of their childhood, when Wilbur the older by four years, used to 'make up' stories and pour them out in a stream for the entertainment of Orville, each separate story ending, 'And then the boiler burst.' For five years they studied the theory of the flying-machine at odd times. But still for fun. And still no machine of any kind.

"It was not long after they took up the study before every moment of their leisure was given to it. In 1900 they decided they must have an experiment station. So they decided to go down to Kill Devil Hill in North Carolina and establish an 'experimentation camp.' One can imagine how many a father would have discouraged these strenuous absorbing efforts given to a mere amusement, would have advised 'sticking to something that paid.' In 1901, the year after they had begun to experiment in North Carolina with a gliding machine, they returned pretty well played out. On that trip they discovered that the tables of calculation previously made by all the authorities upon whom they had depended were wrong, and that, if they were to succeed, they must work out the whole theory from the bottom up. At that time Wilbur Wright, expressed his solemn conviction that man would not fly for a thousand years. But that belief did not detain him and his brother from tackling the job. This is the point in their career where they best showed the stuff they are made of. They not only worked out a scheme for balancing and controlling the machine, but they developed propellers for their machine on information which they had discovered for themselves. Further than this, and more important, they had to work out new tables showing the pressure of the air against various surfaces at various angles.

"On the 17th of December, 1903, after the boys had made hundreds and hundreds of experimental flights in their gliding machine (nearly a thousand in September and October of 1902 alone), their first machine to carry a gasoline engine made a successful flight. This was at Kill Devil Hill, in the presence of five persons, and it was the first time in the history of the world that a power-driven heavier-than-air flying-machine, with a man aboard, ever left this planet in successful flight. The first flight lasted only twelve seconds, but later the same day the machine flew for fifty-nine seconds, covering a distance of 852 feet against a twenty-mile-an-hour wind.

"The time to celebrate had arrived! So the boys went to a telegraph office and wired the news home with a dollar which the good Bishop had given them to spend for that purpose if they met with success.

A Practical Education Should be Possible in all Our Schools.

Obviously, the most effective plan ready to our hands is industrial education and manual training. General education in the public schools helps, so far as it gives control over essentials and really sharpens the mind: but for definite economic progress it is very far from sufficient. As yet it may be safely said that industrial education is almost untried in our country, at least for the classes such as the A class—most in need of it. For many poor people among us, who need the direct means of earning a subsistence, it is rather absurd to give them the studies of the leisure class. Also, many a boy dull in mathematics or science may have a good eye and a steady arm, and may make a skillful carpenter or bricklayer. Of course, the possibilities are as wide as the diversity of men. Germany is far ahead of us in providing technical schools for the artisan class. In short, we should make it easy in our public schools for a boy or girl to obtain training in mechanics, plumbing, wood-working, cooking, telegraphy, etc., etc., as geometry or chemistry. All this applies to women as well as to men. Women's wages are low because they are usually unskilled and also in a crowded class. Our cities and towns should be dotted with training schools suitable of giving practical preparation for agriculture, manufactures and commerce. At present, the unemployed or the very poor have no trade of any kind, or are confined to some one habitual task, like sewing on clothing cut by machinery. To-day, when carpenters or plumbers get four dollars for a day of short hours, or even "make work," no man handy with tools need be poor or out of employment long. It should not be necessary to press this matter upon the reader: its effectiveness for increasing the wages of the very poor must appear at a glance. In addition its ultimate end is to inculcate individual independence and self-respect; it frees the laborer from servile dependence for his post upon the mere caprice of an employer. The increased efficiency given to an unskilled man increases his utility to his employer, and increases the demand for his services.—From the "Abolition of Poverty," by J. Lawrence Laughlin, in the June Scribner.

Our Manly Training of Girls

Our training of girls approaches close to the idiotic, claims Katharine Eggleston in WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION for June. The average girl, from the minute she leaves her dolls to go to kindergarten, till she matriculates at college, is told about men and men's work—never about women. The kindergarten songs and tales are about Lincoln and Washington—and even the pictures of animals show the lion and forget the lioness. In older childhood she is taught to build sand forts instead of good old-fashioned mud pies, and even the sums in arithmetic dwell on "Billy's" marbles and "John's" apples, to the total neglect of his sister.

Later still she goes to high school, and learns history with all its ideals of brave men—and here again the woman's share of quiet courage is completely overshadowed. She learns carpentering, although she cannot cook an egg or sew a seam. And finally, her education finished, she knows all about the higher mathematics and is short-changed by the butcher. She learns political economy, but doesn't know who are the members of her own school board. Miss Eggleston's bright article concludes:

"If your boy wanted to be a lawyer, and a neighbor told you to put him to work in a carpenter's shop by way of preparation, you would think your neighbor crazy. But you do not consider yourself crazy when you train your daughter, who is to be a wife and mother (and nothing can get away from the grim statistics that women do marry, despite economic independence, the higher education and all other arguments in favor of coeducation), precisely as you train your son, who will enter some profession or trade, there to first earn his own living and then to provide for a family yet unborn. The one to bear the family and to rear it, the other to provide shelter and comfort for the mother of that family, and yet both trained precisely in the same way."

The "Lost Orchid" Rediscovered Only Through War and Bloodshed—Profit $24,000.

In 1902 only five of the precious "Cypripedium" plants were left—not counting the homebred hybrid named for Mrs. F. L. Aues of Massachusetts. Four were in France, in the Jardin de Luxembourg; one was in England, in the conservatories of Sir Trevor Lawrence. These were fast declining, and the next year one alone in the known world gave forth a flower. Despairingly, Opoex, the Luxembourg gardener, tried to breed from it; and waited in ardent and hopeful impatience. But you cannot make a high-class, decent orchid germinate its own pollen. This orchid was no exception; it was bent on race suicide.

In such a plight were the orchidists when they offered $10,000 reward to anyone who would find a hale and virile wild specimen of the Cypripedium Fairrieneum.

England had long desired to open up Tibet to the range of commerce. Opportunity did not come till Russia was busy with war in Manchuria and Korea. Captain Younghusband was hurriedly despatched by the English from India with a military force to penetrate to the sacred city of Lassa. The penetration was made—at cost of blood, life, and treasure. Attached to the expedition was G. L. Searight of Darjeeling, surveyor in His Majesty's service. Being, like many Englishmen, an amateur gardener, he botanized along the way; and one afternoon, seven thousand feet above sea level, he came upon the Lost Orchid.

He sent a thousand plants back to Calcutta by a native, to be examined. News of this reached England. Indian botanists verified the specimens as the long-vanished Fairrieneum. That news, also, was cabled to Europe. "Events," commented the Orchid Review excitedly, "follow each other with such startling rapidity as to make one almost breathless." These events—the arrival, the testing, and the decision on the genuineness of the find —produced among the cognoscenti a tremendous sensation. Indeed, among orchidists, the historic expedition, even the Russo-Japanese war itself, will be chiefly memorable for having led to the reclamation of this little "lady's slipper."

When one hundred and seventy-nine of Searight's plants arrived in London, they brought $2,750—and $10,000 reward besides. At this rate Mr. Searight's discovery must have yielded him near $25,400—and not one of the plants yet in bloom.—Franklin Clark, in the June Everybody's

At Evening I Came to the Wood.

At evening I came to the wood, and threw myself on the breast Of the great green mother, weeping, and the arms of a thousand trees Waved and rustled in welcome, and murmured "Rest—rest—rest!" The leaves, thy brother, shall heal thee; thy sisters, the flowers, bring peace."

At length I stayed from my weeping, and lifted my face from the grass: The moon was walking the wood with feet of mysterious pearl, And the great trees held their breath, trance-like, watching her pass, And a bird called out from the shadows, with voice as sweet as a girl.

And then, in the holy silence, to the great green mother I prayed: "Take me again to thy bosom, thy son who so close to thee, Aforetime, filial clung, then into the city strayed— 'The painted face of the town, the wine and the harlotry.

"Bathe me in lustral dawns, and the morning star and the dew, Make pure my heart as a bird and innocent as a flower, Make sweet my thoughts as the meadow-mint—O make me all anew. And in the strength of beech and oak gird up my will with power.

"I have wandered far, O my mother, but here I return at the last, Never again to stray in pilgrimage wanton and wild.

A broken heart and a contrite here at thy feet I cast, O, take me back to thy bosom. . . " And the mother answered, "Child!" —Richard Le Gallienne in "The Delinquent" for June.

The Tonic of Praise and Kindness.

Joseph Jefferson said: "Applause is very necessary to the actor; it elevates him and gives him confidence; it is like shaking a man warmly by the hand when you first meet him, making him feel at home, instead of giving him a cold bow, by which you take all the geniality out of him."

Every day the ambitions of scores of bright boys and girls are fatally blighted by some unthinking or heedless superintendent or proprietor. I have known of instances which were little less than criminal, where young hopes have been blighted, enthusiasm crushed, ambition paralyzed forever by coarse, rude, barbarous treatment of employees.

Some men look upon their employees as natural kicking posts, or as safety valves for their bad temper or their mistakes, and they vent their spleen upon them without mercy.

No one likes to be blamed harshly, even when he is in the wrong. Scolding or fault-finding never wrought an improvement in any one. There is a better way to make the wrong-doer see his fault. Any one in authority, be he parent, teacher, or employer, will get better results by kind methods than by harsh ones. Many a clerk, stenographer, or other employee has lost heart and become indifferent to his work on account of the mean silence of the employer who never praises, never shows any appreciation of work well done, but who is ready to find fault on the slightest provocation.—[Orison Swett Marden in "Success Magazine."]

Breaking Away From Work.

Our business men ought to break away from trade exactions long before they do—ought to do so as a matter of volition and ethical judgment, rather than of physical necessity. They ought to get and give more enjoyment in life; they ought to do less for self and more for others; they ought to live more in books and more in the open and less at their desks, and realize better health and longer lives as a result. More and more culture in all its forms is exercising a growing influence, which must manifest itself in lessened effort along the lines of money-getting, and the devotion of more time on the part of our business men to the pursuits which naturally accompany fortified leisure. Aristotle said "the end of labor is to gain leisure," and Aristotle was a wise man.—From A. Barton Heburn's "The American Business Man" in the June Century.

Poor Eye-Sight the Cause of Poor Spelling.

In an article in McClure's Magazine for June on "The Conservation of the Defective Child" Marion Hamilton Carter says:

"On a certain afternoon in March, 1896, Miss Margaret T. Maguire, a grade-school teacher in the Philadelphia public schools, went to the psychological laboratory of the University of Pennsylvania accompanied by a lad of fourteen, a well-mannered, intelligent lad, industrious in his school work; one of her favorite pupils, in fact. Yet this lad was the 'bogey' of the teachers who for seven years had had him in their classes; he was a chronic bad speller. This does not mean that he misspelled some words sometimes. He misspelled every word always, and did it in the same careful

JUNE ON THE GREAT LAKES.

Restful, delightful, interesting and instructive, there is no trip like that on the Great Lakes, those inland seas which form the border line between the United States and Canada. And June is one of the most charming months in the year in which to take the trip.

For comfort the fine passenger steamships of the Anchor Line have no superiors. As well-appointed as the palatial ocean greyhounds which plow the Atlantic, their schedule allows sufficient time at all stopping places to enable the traveler to see something of the great lake cities and to view in daylight the most distinctive sights of the lakes, and the scenery which frames them.

The trip through the Detroit River, and through Lake St. Clair, with its great ship canal in the middle of the lake, thence through Lake Huron, the locking of the steamer through the great locks at the Soo, and the passage of the Portage Entry, lake and canal, across the upper end of Michigan are novel and interesting features.

The voyage from Buffalo to Duluth covers eleven hundred miles in the five days' journey. Leaving Buffalo, the steamships Juniata and Tionesta, make stops at Erie, Cleveland, Detroit, Mackinac Island, the Soo, Marquette, Houghton and Hancock, and Duluth.

The 1909 season opens on June 5, when the steamer Tionesta will make her first sailing from Buffalo.

The Anchor Line is the Great Lake Annex of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the service measures up to the high standard set by the "Standard Railroad of America."

An illustrated folder giving sailing dates of steamers, rates of fare, and other information is in course of preparation, and may be obtained when ready from any Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agent, who is also prepared to book passengers who may desire to take this trip through the Great Lakes and back.

Women's Secrets

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. R. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half-a-million women, in a practice of over 40 years, it is phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the gratitude accorded him by women, as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's diseases.

Every sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed, sealed in perfectly plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising whatever, upon them. Write without fear as without fee, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

and serious manner with which he recited the history lesson he loved. His reading was as bad as his spelling; he was absolutely incapable of getting through a single sentence correctly, an, and, the, and a few three-letter words being the pet result of his seven years' schooling.

Dr. Witmer, the head of the laboratory, made a long examination, the result of which was the discovery that Charles Gilman had an ocular defect never, in all these years, so much as suspected by either his parents or his teachers: at the distance of about three feet the boy saw everything double; he lacked the power to direct the two eyes co-ordinately upon the same point in space, the left eye looking a little higher than the right. A page of ordinary print was thus a blur; whenever he attempted to write, the words doubled under his pen. He was fitted with glasses and later operated upon; then for the first time in his life the printed page and the words he was tracing with his pen were clear."

The Musician.

The "Musician" of Boston, the leading American music magazine, issues an attractive and valuable number for June. Leading articles include discussions of the "Vienna Conservatory" which has recently engaged the celebrated pianist Leopold Godowsky, to take charge of the instruction of the advanced pupils at the highest salary paid to any teacher, and also Ottokar Seveik, the teacher of Kubelik, to head the violin department; the Litchfield County (Conn.) Choral Union, which has started a movement of great importance to American music; "Choral Societies of the Future"; "Where Shall the Young Musician locate" a symposium with replies by well-known musicians; "The MacDowell Estate and its future Use"; "Paderewski's Symphony"; "A Colossal Musicale," special department for Singers, Violinists, Organists and Children.

The music section contains nine pieces (solos and duet) for piano, voice and violin. The cover is an effective drawing of a classical character consisting of a Greek landscape with three women in the foreground playing upon musical instruments of the Greek style. The issue contains 48 pages of text, well illustrated, and 24 pages of music of the average grade of difficulty.

BUCHANAN VALLEY NEWS.

BUCHANAN VALLEY, May 31.—When A. W. Cole's men were spraying the apple trees in his orchard, Joseph Strausbaugh found two tortoises, with the date 1817 and initials J. E. and R. M., also the initials S. C. S. 1883 on one of them. The other one was marked with the date '81 J. L. F. T. 1874 and J. W. G. A. M. The first date corresponds to time of the origination of St. Ignatius' church here, 92 years ago. The other was cut by your correspondent. Tortoises sometimes live to be 200 years old. The one looked much older than the other and was blind of one eye, and its shell broken off in many places, showing use for many years.

Mrs. Vauglied of Phila. is visiting at the home of her mother in the Valley, Mrs. Anna Shorb.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Cole spent several days at Hon. Wm. Martins in Gettysburg.

Miss Alverta Irvin is home from the Sanatorium for the summer.

Miss Ethel Cole was home from Cashtown over Sunday last.

The soldier dead resting in St. Ignatius' Cemetery were remembered on Decoration Day, by your correspondent with a number of little children, strewing the beautiful wild flowers and especially the pink honeysuckle, with other flowers in abundance.

George Swartz was in the Valley in the interest of the Adams County Fire Insurance Co., last week.

ALL UNSTRUNG.

Many Gettysburg People Suffer from Nervous Troubles and Don't Know Why.

Thousands of cases of kidney trouble show few outward symptoms except nervousness, depression, languor, irritability and an inclination to worry over trifles. It is generally due to the poisonous action of uric acid on blood and nerves, and can't be cured except by curing the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills cure these ills by curing the kidneys. Gettysburg women are learning it. Here's a local case.

Mrs. J. Warren Gilbert, 128 W. Middle St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "My health was very poor for some time, owing to a weakness of the kidneys. I had nearly all the symptoms that usually accompany a bad case of kidney trouble, such as backache, restlessness at night, dizzy spells and headaches. I took many medicines but received no benefit until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at the People's drug store. They gave me relief at once and in a short time I was without a sign of the trouble. I heartily endorse this remedy."

Memorial Ode.

They are not dead
Who Die—
They merely slumber:
In mossy bed
They lie—
A host in number.
As heroes when the battle's done,
As workmen when the day's begun,
As children when the play has ceased,
As flowers in the snow's embrace,
As huntsmen after weary chase,
As sufferers from much pain released,
As dawn's calm ere the rising sun—
So rest they when life's race is done.
In mossy bed
They lie—
A host in number:
They are not dead
Who die—
They only slumber.

Split-Log Drag Facts.

The drag costs from $3 to $7 per mile per year.

Proper use of the drag will cover within six months stones which project from the roadbed as high as six inches.

Twenty-eight drags are in constant use by the city government of Des Moines, Iowa, and the city highway commissioner says that they save the city $140 per day and add from five to ten years to the life of each street.

Under ordinary conditions a road should be dragged once a month, on the average. One trip over the road will usually suffice for a treatment. Experience is the best teacher as hard and fast rules cannot be formulated.

A few drags are in use in Pennsylvania, principally in Lycoming and Allegheny counties.

The drag is in high favor in Maine and the State Highway Department is authority for the statement that it is used at a cost of seventeen per cent. of the cost of maintaining roads in the former way and that the roads are better than ever.

Extra weight on the drag is not often required, but the drag should be made of a log at least a foot thick. Any kind of timber can be used, even that which is worthless for anything else.

The drag will do anything good to a road which any other machine will do but will never hurt the road. The drag is "fool proof."

No preparation whatever is needed for the use of a drag. Just make one and go out in front of your barn and try it. It can be used in any kind of weather on any kind of road, but the best time is when the surface of the road is moist but not sticky.

Weston, Ocean-to-Ocean Walker,

Said recently: "When you feel down and out, feel there is no use living, just take your bad thoughts with you and walk them off. Before you have walked a mile things will look rosier. Just try it." Have you noticed the increase in walking of late in every community? Many attribute it to the comfort which Allen's Foot-Ease, the antiseptic powder to be shaken into the shoes, gives to the millions now using it. As Weston has said, "It has real merit."

Road Appropriation.

State Highway Commissioner Joseph Hunter has approved the distribution among the counties of the State of the money available for general road building under the Sproul-Roberts act between June 1, 1909, and June 1, 1910. Adams County gets $12,350.42.

The last Legislature appropriated $4,000,000 for road building for two years, but the Governor reduced the appropriation by one half because of the demands of the charities and but a million was available for distribution for work in the year commencing June 1. From this was reduced ten per cent. for the maintenance of roads built under the general act so that the $990,000 was apportioned on the basis of $9,189 for each mile of county and township road in the counties.

Flag Day Next Week.

The approaching anniversary of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes as the emblem of the United States should bring preparation throughout the length and breadth of the land for its recognition and general observance.

On Monday, June 14, 1909, the flag of the Union will be 132 years old, and that date has been set apart as Flag Day, which is to be made more important and more significant than ever before. The governors of the various States by proclamation have called upon the public to display the Stars and Stripes from all State and public buildings in observance of the day and have urged that it be celebrated with exercise appropriate to the occasion. Mayors of cities have been called upon to recognize the anniversary and by public proclamation invite their glory to the breeze. And the response has been such as to indicate the most widespread observance since the day was set apart.

District S. S. Convention.

The annual convention of the Third District Adams county Sabbath School Association was held in St. Paul's Lutheran church, McSherrystown, Thursday afternoon and evening, May 27th.

The devotional services were conducted by Rev. Geo. N. Lauffer and Rev. F. S. Lindaman led in prayer.

The convention sang "Showers of Blessing," "Tell me the Story of Jesus" and "The Son of God Goes Forth to War."

Remarks by the District President, Mervin Wintrobe, followed.

The discussion, "The District in its Relation to County and State Work," was opened by Rev. John Jay Hill, of Littlestown.

"Will there be any Stars in my Crown?" was sung, followed by an address, "The Study of the Scriptures"—"How to make them more interesting," by Rev. A. M. Heilman.

Sharon E. Smith, basso, then sang "Shall I be Forgotten?" a beautiful selection by Johnson.

Mervin Wintrobe was elected as a delegate to represent the third district at the state convention in Harrisburg.

Mrs. J. J. Hill was appointed to take charge of the Cradle Roll Department of the District.

Address, "The Church, the Parent, the Sunday School, the Child," by G. W. Yeiser, of Union Mills, Md., was next on the program. The offering was then taken, $4.15 being contributed. Sharon E. Smith sang another solo, "Hand in Hand," in fine style.

The closing remarks were made by Mervin Wintrobe. The various schools of the district were well represented and all in all it was one of the best conventions in point of interest and enthusiasm ever held in the district.

The following schools were not represented: St. Mark's, St. Luke's, Mt. Olivet, Mt. Joy and Pine Grove.

From the other ten schools in the third district the following delegates were in attendance: George Morelock, Clare H. Shoemaker, Ruth Little, Rosia R. L. T. L. Meeting.

The Walter L. T. L. Alumni held a meeting, Thursday evening, May 27, at the home of Miss Mae Watkins. During the usual business periods committees were appointed, one on program, the other on a yell for the convention. On this the President appointed Arthur Grist, Mrs. Michener, Alice Black and Mae Watkins. Reports of Miss Cogan's visit to the county were then given and delegates to the convention were appointed.

They are Harriett Garrettson, Esther Peters, Mae Watkins, Fillmore Bream and Mrs. Geo. Myers. The following program was then given: A selection on the phonograph, "Long Ago," Recitation, "When Hudly 'speaks her Beau," Mae Watkins; Vocal duet, Mae Watkins and Wilmer Bream; Recitation, "The Inventor's Wife," Esther Peters; Recitation, "The Blue and the Gray," Susie Black. During the social hour, which was greatly enjoyed, the members guessed advertisements.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT

Large Attendance in Town for the Meetings this Week.

The indications are that the summer state encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic will be one of the largest recently held and a most successful and interesting event, and what is true of the G. A. R. encampment applies also to the convention of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic and the Woman's Relief Corps. The veterans and ladies began to arrive with the first trains on Monday and Monday evening the town was theirs and Tuesday morning brought many more arrivals. It is estimated that from twelve to fifteen hundred veterans and ladies are in town. All the hotels are well filled and the boarding houses throughout the town are taking care of a goodly number and from the point of view of the town the occasion measures up to all that was expected, and everyone is hoping that rain will not mar the week. The Grand Army of the Republic will hold its sessions in the new Walter Theatre, which has been donated for the occasion. The Ladies of the G. A. R. will hold their sessions in the Court House and the Woman's Relief Corps in Brua Chapel. The Band of the Scotland Soldiers Orphans' Industrial School arrived on Tuesday and gave a concert that evening and will head the parade at the opening session of the G. A. R. on Wednesday morning. The Citizens' Band of this place will give concerts in the evenings on the Square. The following is the program:

TUESDAY.
9.00 a. m.—Session of Ladies of G. A. R., Court House.
2 to 4 p. m.—Concert at Eagle Hotel by Soldiers Orphans' Band of Scotland—40 pieces.
2 p. m.—Meeting of Memorial Home Association W. R. C., in Brua Chapel. All comrades welcome.
8 p. m.—Camp Fire at Xavier Hall, High street.
8 p. m.—Reception to delegates and visitors by Gettysburg Lodge, Ladies of the G. A. R., in Court House.
WEDNESDAY.
9.30 a. m.—Opening session of G. A. R. at Walters Theatre, York street. Headquarters officers and delegates escorted from Eagle Hotel to the Theatre by Soldiers Orphans' Band.
Sessions of W. R. C. in Brua Chapel, and Ladies of the G. A. R. in Court House.
2 p. m.—Penna. Dept. Ladies of the G. A. R. will present to Meade School a portrait of Lincoln. Presentation speech by Patriotic Instructor Mrs. Catharine De Lacey Roche.
4.30.—Song service at rostrum in National Cemetery, conducted by Dept. Chaplain Rev. John W. Sayers, D.D. Everybody invited.
8.30.—Annual Reception, W. R. C., Eagle Hotel parlor.
8 to 10 p. m.—Reception of Dept. Pres. Ladies of G. A. R., Eagle Hotel.
8 to 10 p. m.—Band concert Centre Square.
THURSDAY.
Business sessions continued.
Band concert in evening.

Business Men Organize

A number of the business men of Gettysburg met last Friday evening in the Gettysburg Times Office, and permanently organized a Retail Merchant Association. The following permanent officers were elected: E. P. Miller President, M. K. Eckert Secretary and E. P. Wisotzky Treasurer. The Constitution and by-laws of the Hanover Association was read to give an understanding of the work of similar organizations in other places. The matter of dues was then discussed at some length, the question being whether there should be stated dues, alike to all members or graded dues regulated by business done by a member. E. P. Wisotzky, Thomas J. Winebrenner and John Brehm were appointed a committee to investigate the matter of dues best suited to this place, and report at a later meeting of the Association. A motion carried that Capt. James T. Long be sent to the State Red Men's Convention at Harrisburg this week and invite the Order to hold their next annual convention at Gettysburg. The Association will meet every Friday evening until further notice.

Change in Schedule.

The change in the schedule on the railroads has resulted in a change of collection and delivery of mails by the city carriers. They go out on their routes about three-quarters of an hour earlier than before, namely at 6.15 and 8.45 a. m. and 1.00 and 3.10 p. m.
HELP WANTED.—Male.—Intelligent man or woman to distribute circulars and take orders. $9.00 a week and commission. Apply to J. W. Ziegler, Eagle Hotel, June 12th. It

PETER G. KAPP, one of Dillsburg's most highly respected residents passed away at his home Tuesday morning of last week after suffering since early Sunday morning. Mr. Kapp had not been in very good health since the death of his wife, having had a stroke just previous to that sad event and during the latter part of last week was troubled with insomnia. About 5 o'clock Sunday morning he went down stairs and in mistake for other medicine, took a large dose of denatured ether. As soon as he had swallowed the poison he realized the difference and summoned Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Bushey, with whom he lived. They immediately sent for a physician but his efforts were in vain. Mr. Kapp lingered until death ended his earthly life. All he was able to say was, "I made a mistake." Mr. Kapp was a good Christian gentleman and a good citizen, and was a member of the Lutheran Church. For many years he resided in Warrington township, York county, following farming, later removing to Dillsburg. He is survived by three sons and a daughter, ex-Prothonotary Wm. E. Kapp of Biglerville, Charles H. Kapp of Homestead, Lewis Kapp and Mrs. E. L. Bushey of near Dillsburg. The funeral was held last Thursday morning and was conducted by Rev. I. W. Trostle, interment being made at the Barrens.

MRS. CATHARINE WILLS, wife of Jacob J. Wills, died suddenly last Thursday morning, June 3, at her home in York. Mrs. Wills was peeling pineapples and seemingly in good health. She was suddenly overcome by a fainting spell and became unconscious, in which condition she remained until she died. Physician summoned said death was due to apoplexy. Mrs. Wills suffered an attack under similar conditions about a year ago and at that time was confined to her bed several weeks. She was aged 66 years. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Mrs. Geo. Allen, Mrs. Frank Messman, Miss Rose Wills, all of York, and the following sisters: Mrs. James Devine of Edgegrove, Mrs. Marie Eckenrode of Manchester, Md., and Mrs. John McKinney of Hanover. The funeral was on Monday, June 7.

CLINTON ALBERT SWOPE, a young son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Swope, of Hamilton township, aged 4 months and 4 days, died suddenly Sunday morning, May 30, about 6 o'clock, supposedly of convulsions. Mr. and Mrs. Swope on arising in the morning, about 5 o'clock say the child was in its usual good health. They left it lying asleep in bed and on returning to look after it at 6 o'clock, found it dead. The remains were interred in the Lutheran cemetery of Abbottstown Tuesday afternoon of last week.

SEARIGHT KLINE of Cumberland Co., and well known to many people in northern part of this county, residing two miles east of Hunters Run, on the Oxford road, died suddenly of apoplexy Saturday afternoon, May 29. He had been trimming trees, and sometime after he had began to work was found by his son, his body lying over some of the branches of a tree. Mr. Kline was well known and aged 48 years. He had been in failing health for the past year. He was a member of the Lutheran Church of Mt. Holly Springs, the Junior Mechanics and Patriotic Order Sons of America, of Holly, and the Royal Arcanum of Carlisle. Besides his wife he is survived by 8 children. The funeral was held Tuesday morning of last week, interment at Holly.

MISS MARY C. THOMAS, aged 66 yrs., was found dead in bed at the home of her sister, Mrs. Louise Schriver, York, one morning last week. Her failure to appear at breakfast at the usual hour aroused suspicion of Mrs. Schriver, and upon investigation found her lifeless body in bed. She had evidently died some time during the night. She was apparently in good health when she retired. Dr. H. H. Jones, who was summoned, pronounced death due to paralysis. Coroner J. E. Dehoff examined the body several hours later and his diagnosis was the same as that of Dr. Jones. Mrs. Thomas formerly lived in Spring Grove and had resided with Mrs. Schriver for about a year. She was a member of Wolf's Lutheran Church, Jackson township, and is survived by the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. Schriver of York, Mrs. Henry Stouffer, of West York, Martin Thomas of Springersburg township, John Thomas, Hampton, and Henry Thomas of York.

MARI VIOLA MARTZ, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Martz, of near Red Land, was buried at Grace Lutheran Church, Two Taverns, on Sunday May 22, aged 8 months and 20 days.

MRS. MARY E. SMITH, a highly respected lady died at her home in Fairfield, Monday, May 31, from a hemorrhage of the lungs, aged 79 years, 10 months and 11 days. Her husband died ten years ago. Mrs. Smith, whose maiden name was Keady, is survived by three sisters and two brothers.

A young child of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Snyder of near Idaville, died last Wednesday morning.

EDWARD HEMLER, son of Harry P. Hemler, of Brush Run, Mountpleasant township, died at St. Vincent Orphanage, Baltimore, shortly after 2 o'clock on last Wednesday morning from pneumonia, following an attack of jaundice aged 1 years, 7 months and 2 days. The body was interred at the orphanage. Mr. Hemler, who went to Baltimore on Tuesday evening, was present when his little son died, but was not allowed to remove the remains. His little son Clement, the only remaining child, of the family, who had also been at the above institution, was brought along home with Mr. Hemler on Thursday, and on the same day

Dates of Nearby Fairs Fixed.

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Algonson S. Martin, who prepares the list of agricultural fairs held every year in the State, has just issued the list for the coming season. The Grangers' exhibition at Williams' Grove ranks first and will be held from August 30th to September 4th. The Center Hall Grangers' picnic will be held from September 11 to 17.

In Dauphin county the Middletown fair will be held September 7 to 10; Gratz fair will be held September 28 to October 1.

The Cumberland county fair will be held at Carlisle September 25th to October 1; the Hogestown stock show June 9 and 10. The Perry county fair will be held at Newport September 21 to 24. Lebanon will have its fair August 24 to 27. The big York fair will be held October 4 to 8; and the Hanover fair September 14 to 17.

Last year the attendance at these fairs eclipsed all records, summing up 1,559,000, a gain of $70,000. The amount paid in premiums last year was $95,517.91, a decrease of $34,000. The amount offered in premiums for 1909 is $102,665, a decrease of $71,000 from last year. Secretary Martin says there is a marked improvement noticeable in the manner of conducting these fairs in that all games of chance, gambling devices and questionable shows have been practically eliminated.

Echoes of Dedication Day.

The business of the Gettysburg Post Office on Dedication Day last Monday, May 31, was a record breaker. Over thirty thousand one cent stamps were sold at the office. The business of the office amounted to over $400 on Monday and it is estimated that over 40,000 postal cards were mailed.

The last detail of the U. S. Regulars left town last Thursday.

The Gettysburg Ice and Storage Co. did a land office ice cream business. They ran continuously day and night and made hundreds of gallons of ice cream and no one who wanted ice cream went without.

About 100 volumes were added to the High School library during the year. Both the B Grammar and the A Grammar schools added a number of valuable volumes to their libraries. Since January 1st there have been purchased and hung on the walls of the new High School building, entirely through the efforts of the High School pupils, many fine copies of famous pictures from the great artists. Several valuable books were donated to the High School library in April by Mrs. Fred. English. Mr. Wm. Tip-ton recently donated two beautiful views of the Gettysburg battlefield. During the year more than $170 were expended for books and pictures. This has been made possible only by the interest which the patrons take in the High School pupils' efforts to raise funds for their library.

When Jimsey Plugged the Game.

By W. F. BRYAN.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

No thunder rolled, no lightning flashed, when James Henry Holden got his job, but the proceedings were not altogether without excitement. James Henry entered the office with a demand for the position offered in the morning paper. "We've got a boy," declared Royce, the gray haired manager. "You're too late."

"I was to ten other places before I could get here," explained James Henry. "Which is the kid you put on?"

Royce nodded in the direction of a small boy who was regarding his nicely polished boots with embarrassed interest. James rendered hoarse thanks for the information and slipped out. He was back again in an hour or so to lay a package and some change on Royce's desk.

"Them's the pencils you sent for," he announced. "Where'll I put my hat?"

"I told you we had a boy," said Royce crossly.

"And 'had' ain't 'is,'" explained James. "He's gone home to get his eye fixed, and I told him I'd take the job, so's he needn't worry."

For a moment Royce hesitated. It was bad policy to employ a boy who had taken another's job, but Royce was very tired of boys who lacked spirit, so at last he nodded his head in the direction of the bench where the boys sat waiting for their turn to be called.

"No more fighting or out you go," he warned, with a frown, and James grinned as he crossed over to the bench.

In two days he was "Jimsey" to every one in the office with the exception of Benson, the senior partner, and even Benson thought of him as Jimsey on those infrequent occasions when he gave the lad any thought at all. He was alert, intelligent and always ready to perform services not strictly in his line.

More than once Jimsey was sent up-town to Benson's home with some message, and in these commissions he delighted. Usually he carried a message to Mrs. Benson, and Jimsey grew adoringly fond of the sweet faced girl who was the broker's second wife.

Marion Chesney had married Benson because her parents had given her no peace until she had consented to make the sacrifice that should re-establish the Chesney fortunes even at the price of her own unhappiness, and like a brave little woman she was trying hard to make the best of it, though she found it very difficult at times.

Benson had sought a mistress of his home rather than of his heart. He delighted in seeing his wife at the head of his table when he gave dinners to his business associates. Like the plate and the wines, she did credit to his taste.

Beyond that he gave her little thought. He was careful to provide flowers and candy, but merely because he felt that this was expected, and Jimsey took far more delight in the trip than did Benson in the sending or Marion in the receiving.

Once it had slipped out at home that the head clerk had a standing order to remind his employer to send flowers and things, and after that they were flowers or candy to Marion—nothing more.

Jimsey's frank admiration and lively ways meant far more to her because his boyish adoration was sincere and his friendliness genuine. She came to watch for his appearance, and to Jimsey the quarter or half dollar that she gave him meant far less than the friendly pressure of the slim, cool fingers as she laid the coin in his palm.

So matters stood when Jimsey, making a short cut through the park on the way to the street car line, came face to face with Marion and a man as he turned a curve in the path. There was no mistaking the man's attitude. He was making determined love to her, and she seemed at least tolerant if not receptive.

For an instant Jimsey paused and then half turned to retrace his steps and made a detour. When he caught a better glimpse of the man's face he sauntered forward.

He came to a stop before the couple, and his hat was whisked off as he made a sweeping bow to Marion. Then he turned to the man with a look of infinite disgust.

"Get on a new lay, Skinny," he demanded. "You're off your beat and in over your head. You'd better beat it or I'll tell the cops where the lead pipe from Hennessy's new tenements went to. It's too bad you can't stay no longer, but you get 't'll outen here."

To Marion's surprise the man rose and without a word took a hurried departure. Jimsey turned to her with mild reproach in his eyes.

"I know how you feel," he said soothingly as he watched the tears come unbidden to her eyes. "You want to have a steady, and the old man ain't no good for the mushy stuff. You can't get a flirtation with no one what knows your push, but you don't want to get mixed up with no lead pipe thief."

"I am interested in charities," she explained, not realizing that she was making a defense to a fifteen-year-old boy. "He spoke so interestingly of the conditions he had studied. This was the first time that he presumed to become personal."

"He thought he had you clinched," remarked Jimsey, forbearing to add that he thought she was "easy." "You want to put the old man wise, because Skinny may try to hold you up—blackmail, you know."

"I couldn't, I couldn't!" cried the girl with a sob.

"If you must," insisted Jimsey firmly. "If you don't tell, he'll make up all kinds of stories, and you'll have to put up or stand for 'em."

"But you can't understand," she began, and Jimsey sagely nodded his head. He was wise far beyond his years.

"I know," he conceded. "You two ain't never had a good fight so's you could know each other. Can I put him wise?"

The girl shook her head, but Jimsey shook his, too, and though he said no more to her, he was waiting for Benson when the latter left the office. It was Benson's habit to walk uptown each evening until he felt tired, and tonight Jimsey emerged from the shadows of the corner and fell into step.

"I want to chew the rag, boss," he explained.

"See the cashier if you want more salary," was the short response. "I cannot be bothered with office details."

"This ain't office," denied Jimsey. "It's about the lady. I didn't promise not to tell, and she's afraid to."

"What do you know about my wife that she is afraid to tell me?" demanded Benson sharply.

"It's this way," explained Jimsey hurriedly. "She ain't got nothin' to do but to be good to folks, and she gets in with the charity people. There's a chap that trails with the bunch for what he can get outen it, and—and—he was makin' love to her today. There ain't nothin' wrong, and you can't blame her. I seen him sellin' soap for twenty-five cents a cake, and there ain't another faker I know c'n get more'n ten. He's a swell talker, and she fell for to listen—just to listen, you understand. But he thinks that he c'n threaten to tell you and—and get some money from her, and I want to plug the game."

"And get the money yourself for telling?" demanded Benson. "It won't work. I have implicit confidence in my wife."

To his shocked surprise Jimsey slapped him jubilantly on the back.

"That's the way to talk," he cried with enthusiasm. "only tell it to her boss. Don't tell it to me. Just sort of get together. Good night."

He sped away into darkness, and his perturbation Benson walked all the way home. He could see the poor little girl fearful of what might happen and trying to greet him with a smile. He could recall many little things to which business had blinded him, and when at last he came into his home he took the trembling little woman in his arms and told her that he understood.

Even Jimsey could not realize to what good effect he had "plugged the game." He had made many crooked ways straight, and some vague thought of this made him happy as he stood in line for a gallery ticket to the melodrama, where the stage villain would be knocked out and virtue would triumph as he had seen it that day in real life.

Turquoises and the Mongols.
Turquoises are the favorite stones of all the Mongol races and are generally worn in their original state except by the Chinese women, who have them roughly cut and wear them mixed with pearls and coral. Both the Tibetan men and women ornament themselves with lump turquoises, the men wearing them attached to their single gold earrings, which are worn in the right ear only.

The women of Ladakh carry their fortunes on their heads in the shape of a broad strip of red cloth studded with huge turquoises, which, starting from the forehead, is carried over the head and hangs nearly to the waist. By the Ladakhis these turquoises are preferred that have little black specks on them, which show their genuineness, for even in the wilds of central Asia the spotless blue composition emanating from Europe is offered for sale, the bazaar at Darjeeling being flooded with it.

The Bhutia women in the Darjeeling district wear quaint brass ornaments covered with chip turquoises, which are cheap, but the Mongolians have the embossed silver plates which form such a becoming headgear studded with really fine turquoises, for which the owners have to give valuable furs in exchange.—Cornhill Magazine.

Men, Women and Bundles.
"Wrap them up separately," said the woman at the counter, "and not in one big package."

And then, still speaking to the clerk, though obviously for the benefit of others within hearing, she went on:

"It looks better to carry a lot of little bundles than one big one, and it's easier too. You can pack them in handily between one arm and the body and leave the other arm free. Now, if all these things were in one big package I would have to use both hands to it or run the risk of dropping it."

So saying she stowed her purchases deftly along her left side, keeping them in place with her arm, and departed. A man who had heard her looked incredulous and when his turn at the counter came had all his packages made into one big bundle and tied securely. As he slipped his fingers under the cord and lifted the bundle off the counter he remarked:

"This is my way. If all these things were in separate packages I'd lose half 'em before going a block."—New York Sun.

Considerate Parent.
"What are you doing these days?" "I have joined the sons of rest." "How can you do it?" "By having a father who didn't."

THE HORSE'S FOOT.

Animal's Weakest Part Too Often Neglected, Says a Veterinarian.

By G. H. GLOVER, D. V. M.
In considering the diseases to which horses are heir there are two things that should always be considered as of special importance—the teeth and the feet. The average period of usefulness of the horse is curtailed several years by the inadequacy of the teeth. In most horses at the age of fifteen the teeth have become rough and uneven, and from that time on the horse is a hard keeper, and the real cause is not known by the owner. In buying horses the teeth and the feet should receive most careful examination.

Ordinarily, in speaking of the feet of the horse, we mean the part inclosed by the hoof wall. Looking at it from a standpoint of comparative anatomy, the foot includes all below the knee and the hock. The artificial conditions under which the horse is placed and the unusual demand exacted of him result in almost every case in diseased conditions which render him incapable of doing the work he would otherwise do. Shoeing, which places him under artificial conditions, combined with the hard roads, overwork and improper feeding, soon produces inflammatory conditions which may result in side bones, ringbones, coffin joint lameness, cracks in the hoof wall, contracted heels, corns and a great many more diseases too numerous to mention.

In many cases the horse must be shod, but there certainly is far too much shoeing done. It is surprising how much work the horse can do under most conditions without shoes if he be brought gradually to the work and a little care and judgment be exercised in this matter during the first three or four years of the colt's life. There are three things especially to be remembered if you wish to give this subject a little extra thought—first, as long as you use horses that have weak or defective feet for breeding purposes just so long will you have horses with a predisposition to these things, and you will lose money on them accordingly; second, do less shoeing. A horse with fairly good feet will not need to be shod unless he be worked on the pavement, race track or in mountainous districts; third, do not allow any horseshoer to use the buttress on the soles of the feet nor the rasp on the outside. Do not leave the shoes on longer than four weeks without resetting.

In substance, remember that the foot is the weakest part of the horse; that the service of the horse is worth money to you. Take good care of the horse's feet!

Save the Good Breeders.
Breed the sows just as long as breeding them is profitable. It is generally not good economy to slaughter a good breeding sow.

THE DAIRYMAN.

Milk quietly, cleanly, quickly and thoroughly. Cows do not like unnecessary noise or delay. Milk at nearly the same hour each night and morning and milk the cows in the same order.

Value of Testing.
The other day we were in a dairy that netted its owner last year on a strictly creamery basis over $50 per cow. That man was too sharp to keep a lot of poor cows, for he tested them right along.—Hoar's Dairyman.

Discarding Cows in the Dairy.
In city dairies cows are frequently discarded because they are no longer giving milk in paying quantities. That would not be a sufficient reason for discarding a cow in a farm dairy if a good producer. In the latter good cows should not be discarded as long as they are able to produce well. The following reasons, however, would justify the farmer dairyman in getting rid of them: If they failed to reach a good standard in production, if they were unusually restless and irritable, if they were hard milkers and if they failed to breed regularly.

Light For the Dairy Barn.
The state dairy inspector of Maine, calling attention to the importance of plenty of light in the dairy barn, declares: The even distribution of light is an important matter, and the windows should be, if possible, so shaped and so placed as will allow the sunlight to fall some time during the day on all parts of the floor, searching out and disinfecting those places that easily become contaminated. This can be accomplished most readily where the windows are placed, as they are in our houses, perpendicularly, admitting more light than they would if placed the other way. An abundance of light, and especially of direct sunlight, has its certain beneficial effect upon the health of the cow, upon her production and upon her salableness.

M. THOMAS ARMOR died last Thursday morning at his home in Pittsburgh aged his first lessons in telegraphy from years.

He was a native of Adams Co. His father came from near Hunters-town, of a well known family of Strahan township and married a daughter of Wm. Gillespie, a leading citizen of Gettysburg.

The family removed to Pittsburgh when Thomas Armor was a child. He attended the schools of Pittsburgh and entered the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad and received his first lessons in telegraphy from Andrew Carnegie, who was employed as a telegraph operator.

At the beginning of the Civil War Mr. Armor enlisted in the army and served three months when it was discovered that he understood telegraphy. He was honorably discharged on the condition that he would join the telegraph corps of the army.

He re-enlisted in the 28th Regt., Pa. Vols., and served until the close of the war. After being mustered out of the army he returned to Pittsburgh, where he became identified with the Pennsylvania Tube Company and for many years was an intimate friend of Joshua Rhodes, who died a few months ago.

When the tube manufacturing plants merged with the National Tube Company Mr. Armor retired from active business life.

Mr. Armor was prominent in Grand Army circles of Pittsburgh. He was married 40 years ago to a Pittsburgh woman, who survives with two daughters, Misses Maud and Mary Armor, two brothers and one sister, Wm. G. and George Armor and Mrs. Adam Getty, all of Pittsburgh. Deceased was a grandson of the late William Gillespie of Gettysburg and a nephew of the late Joseph and Matilda Gillespie, and cousins of Mrs. John Willis and Mrs. Caroline Ruff of this place.

June Weddings.

The Methodist Church on last Wednesday evening was the scene of a very pretty church wedding. Miss Amanda Tawney, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Tawney of Steinwehr avenue and Raymond V. Macneil of Glen Cove, Long Island, were united in marriage with the ring ceremony by Rev. L. Dow Ott, pastor of the Methodist Church.

Miss Virginia Tawney, sister of the bride was maid of honor and Millard M. Tawney, brother of the bride was best man. The bride wore a gown of point d'esprit and satin and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. The maid of honor's gown was of silk mull and she carried white carnations.

Miss Carrie Tawney, a cousin of the bride, played the Lohengrin march as the bridal party entered the church.

The Mendelssohn march was the recessional. The ushers were M. K. Eckert, Charles Willis, Raymond Topper and J. Donald Swope.

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride and later in week Mr. and Mrs. Macneil left for Glen Cove.

The bride is a graduate of the Gettysburg High School and in 1906 graduated from Gettysburg College, and has been teaching school in New Jersey.

Among the array of beautiful presents was a check for $100 from the groom's employer, W. E. Kimball of New York City. The parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Macneil of Poughkeepsie attended the wedding.

MCCARRIAR-BREAM.—Miss Myrtle Edna Bream, daughter of Wm. D. Bream of this place and Dr. Thomas Lee McCarriar, dentist at York Springs, were married at the home of the groom in Baltimore on last Friday afternoon. Only immediate family and friends were present on account of illness of an uncle of groom. The bride wore a gown of white embroidered net over white satin and carried bride's roses. Helen Grace Bradford, cousin of the groom was flower girl. Mr. and Mrs. McCarriar left on a wedding tour to Philadelphia, Atlantic City, New York and other places. Among those present were William D. Bream, father of the bride, of this place and Misses Edith and Mary Bream, sisters of the bride.

DIX-SAUBLE.—At the Lutheran parsonage, Hanover, last Thursday evening, June 3, Charles N. Dix of Hampton, and Miss Carrie E. Sauble of Melrose, Carroll county, Md., were united in bonds of matrimony by Rev. D. B. Lau, D.D. The bride is a graduate of Shippensburg Normal School and taught the public school at Round Top near Gettysburg, last school term. She is well known in Hanover. The groom is a well-to-do business man of Hampton, where the newly wedded couple will make their future home.

BRINDLE-HOOVER.—The country home of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Hoover, near Abbottstown, was the scene of a beautiful wedding Tuesday, June 1, at 12 o'clock noon, when their daughter, Miss Sadie E. Hoover, and Charles J. Brindle of Mechanicsburg, Pa., were united in marriage by Rev. S. P. Mauger.

The parlor was very tastefully decorated with the choicest of flowers. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Annie, as bridesmaid, while the groom was attended by Mr. Artie Gulden as best man. The ceremony was witnessed by a number of the relatives and friends of the young couple and at its conclusion they were the recipients of the most hearty congratulations. A sumptuous dinner was served and it proved a feature that was very greatly enjoyed. Amid the good wishes of their friends Mr. and Mrs. Brindle took an afternoon train on a wedding tour that will include Niagara Falls and other points of interest in New York State. On their return they will be at home to their friends at the newly furnished home at Mechanicsburg.

The bride was very kindly remembered in the shape of presents. Guests were present at the wedding from Mechanicsburg, York Hanover, Philadelphia, Menges Mills, and Abbottstown.

MCPHERSON-MCDONALD.—On last Saturday, June 5, William L. McPherson and Mrs. Jessie Cuthbert McDonald were married at Atlantic City. The wedding was a quiet one only immediate families of the bride and groom being present. Hon. and Mrs. Donald P. McPherson were present. Wm. L. McPherson is the eldest son of the late Hon. Edward McPherson, and graduated from Gettysburg College in 1883, and has been connected with the "New York Tribune" for more than twenty years, being on the editorial staff of that paper at the present time.

GLANT-TAYLOR.—On May 7 by Rev. D. B. Wineman, Jacob M. Glant of Menallen township and Miss Mary A. Taylor of Philadelphia.

WHITE-JIMERSON.—On May 31st at Gettysburg by Rev. Dr. J. A. Clutz, James Malcolm White and Miss Maud Ross Jimeron of Tacoma Wash.
